

SYLLABUS

The scientific fields and the syllabus for the written examination are the following:

Theoretical Criminology

- The criminal phenomenon, its elements and characteristics
- Genesis, development, distinctions and characteristics of Criminology
- Theoretical currents of Criminology
- Contemporary theoretical directions in Criminology

Proposed indicative bibliography

Alexiadis St., Criminology, Sakkoulas Publ., Athens-Thessaloniki, 2011 (In Greek).

Chaidou A., Positivist Criminology-Aetiological approaches to the criminal phenomenon, 3rd edition, Nomiki Vivliothiki Publ., 2020 (in Greek).

Daskalakis I., Criminology of social reaction, Sakkoulas Publ., Athens, 1985 (in Greek).

Farsedakis I., Criminological thought from antiquity until today, Nomiki Vivliothiki Publ., Athens, 1990 (in Greek).

Farsedakis I., Elements of Criminology, Nomiki Vivliothiki Publ., Athens, 2005 (in Greek).

Lazos Gr., Critical Criminology, Nomiki Vivliothiki Publ., Athens, 2007 (in Greek).

Vlachou V., Historical review of criminological theories during the 19th century, Nomiki Vivliothiki Publ., Athens, 2017 (in Greek).

Empirical Criminology

- Methods and techniques of criminological research
- Phenomenology and contemporary trends in criminological research
- Key problems in criminological research
- Usefulness and perspectives of criminological research

Proposed indicative bibliography

Zarafonitou Ch., Empirical Criminology, 3rd revised ed., Nomiki Vivliothiki Publ., Athens, 2023 (in Greek).

Zarafonitou Ch., Fear of crime, A.Sakkoulas Publ., Athens-Komotini, 2002 (in Greek & English).

Zarafonitou Ch., Punitiveness. Modern tendencies, dimensions and criminological questionings, Nomiki Vivliothiki Publ., Athens, 2008 (in Greek).

Spinelli C., Criminology. Contemporary and past directions, Nomiki Vivliothiki Publ., 2nd edition revised, Athens-Komotini, 2005 (in Greek).

Criminal Policy

- Currents and trends in criminal policy
- Social control of crime
- Criminal justice system
- Penology-Corrections

Proposed indicative bibliography

Zarafonitou Ch., Crime prevention at the local level. The modern tendencies of criminological research, Nomiki Vivliothiki Publ., Athens, 2003 (in Greek).

Chaidou A., Penology-Corrections, Nomiki Vivliothiki Publ., Athens, 2018 (in Greek).

Delmas-Marty M., Patterns and trends in criminal policy, translation by Ch. Zarafonitou, Nomiki Vivliothiki Publ., Athens, xx (in Greek).

Lambropoulou E., Social control of crime, Papazisis Publ., Athens, 1994 (in Greek).

Papatheodorou Th., Public safety and criminal policy. Comparative approach, 2nd ed. Nomiki Vivliothiki Publ., Athens, 2005 (in Greek).

Examination syllabus for preliminary oral examinations for graduates of Technological Educational Institutes (T.E.I.)

For graduates of Technological Educational Institutes (T.E.I.), who in order to be admitted to the written examinations of entry must have passed the oral examinations in the courses specified in Annex 1 of the Regulation, the syllabus is as follows:

1. Introduction to Criminology I: The syllabus corresponds to the content of the book “Elements of Criminology” of I. Farsedakis, Nomiki Vivliothiki Publ. Excluding those corresponding to pages 111-128 (in Greek).
2. Introduction to Criminology II: The syllabus of the course is included in:

- a- the book of I. Farsedakis “Elements of Criminology”, Nomiki Vivliothiki Publ., Athens, 1996, pp. 111-129 (in Greek).
- b- the book of I. Daskalakis “Criminology of Social Reaction” A.N. Sakkoulas Publ., Athens-Komotini, 1985, pp. 7-45, 60-64, 75-83, 85-87, 91-108, 133-134, 144-159 (in Greek).

3. History of criminological theories: The syllabus of the course is included in:

V.Vlachou, Historical review of criminological theories during the 19th century, Nomiki Vivliothiki Publ., 2017, pp. 91-109, 129-150, 151-187 (in Greek)

4. Empirical Criminology I & II: The syllabus of the course is included in:
Ch. Zarafonitou, “Empirical Criminology”, 3rd revised ed., Nomiki Vivliothiki Publ., Athens, 2023 (in Greek).